

NAVYA joins the Autonomous Vehicle Industry Association, professional association dedicated to improving the regulation of autonomous vehicles in the United States

Villeurbanne, France, January 31st, 2022 – 7:30 am CET – NAVYA (FR0013018041- Navya), a leading company in autonomous mobility systems, announced that it has joined the Autonomous Vehicle Industry Association to promote the benefits of autonomous mobility.

AVIA represents a unique composite among the world's most innovative technology, automotive, trucking, delivery and rideshare companies. Established in 2016 by Ford, Lyft, Uber, Volvo Cars and Waymo, AVIA was the first advocacy organization dedicated exclusively to AVs. In five years, the association has tripled in membership, reinforced its role as the unified voice of the AV industry and increased engagement with lawmakers and regulators at all levels of the U.S. government. As a new member, NAVYA will support the collaborative work of the Association and help to shape the regulations related to the development of autonomous mobility in one of its key markets.

Ariel Wolf, General Counsel of the Autonomous Vehicle Industry Association, stated: "We are pleased to have NAVYA as a member of the Association. Its technological expertise in Level 4 autonomous mobility systems, as well as the Company's extensive deployments in the U.S., are strong assets for promoting autonomous vehicles."

Sophie Desormière, CEO of NAVYA, concluded: "Navya Inc., is proud to become an active member of AVIA. Alongside prestigious mobility players, Navya Inc. is contributing to the development of the AV technology in the United States. With several projects already in operation today, and more to come in the next few months, the U.S. market has a strong potential. From policy makers to the end user, we must work together to shape this new way of transporting people and goods".

Next financial press release: February 7 2022 – Full-year 2021 sales
